"An Excellent Nerve Food" Of such nerve-foods, Sanatogen is us. doubtedly the best. As is pointed outly Sir Charles A. This organic phosphorus is chemically combined with pure milk casein, now recognized as Nature's ideal cell-food. The process by which these two elements are organically united is one of the triumphs of modern pharmaceutical chemistry, the result being a new and unique substance with the most valuable theraceutic properties.

How To Take It.

Physicians usually recommend Sanatogen to be taken three times a day, with or after meals. It is an extremely fas, white powder, and, when mixed with water, forms a bland, creamy, and quistasteless fluid, which can be taken pleasantly in milk, cocce, or any neaded beverage. Everyone whose nerve have been affected by the war should take it regularly for at least a few works. it regularly for at least a few weeks. It will later on be renamed Genatosan to distinguish it from inferior substitutes.

NATIONAL SERVICE

FARMERS!

SECURE LABOUR NOW

Record Harvest of 1917

THE greatest Harvest this country has ever known will soon be upon us. A vast amount of additional labour will be needed. There is a serious danger that this labour may not be available unless immediate steps are taken to safeguard it. Every week hundreds of labourers are leaving our shores. These men must be kept in the country. The safety of the Harvest demands it.

> To secure this it is necessary that every farmer should estimate at once the probable number of men he will require, over and above what can be obtained locally. This must be done now. Every day's delay increases the risk of shortage.

POST YOUR ESTIMATE AT ONCE. Suitable Forms can be obtained from the Director of National Service, 14 St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, to whom they should be returned (no postage needed) properly filled up, without delay.

On Saturday the College paid honour to the memory of its dead, and the tears of the mourpers, as they heard the long and glorious roll of names, were tears of pride and hope, not less than of sorrow. They knew that somewhere, as every name was read, a bright young spirit answered, Adsum. The profound, but simple, thoughts that such a ceremony inspires were put, once for all, into immortal words by the greatest of Greek orators. These young men, fallen before their prime, have had richer lives, done greater deeds, secured a trustier hold on fame, earned the right to more consecrated memories, than the oldest, most learned, and most distinguished of those whom they have left behind. Many scores of great scholars and thinkers have adorned Trinity College, Dublin; but these boys have saved it.

In accordance with the order of M. Subsequently the cavalry charged, whereupon five hundred of the sharpshooters surrendered, and were disarmed and taken prisoners. There was no bloodshed.

A pleasing feature of this Sale is the Freshness and Newness of the goods offered. Very successful trading during the season made large demands on stocks which necessitated continuous replenishing. To meet the increasing trade the Buyers had permission to purchase on a more extensive scale than heretofore, and as a result a STOCK OF GREAT DIMENSIONS is placed before our customers, the entire comprising the most up-to-date and best class goods.

THE REDUCTIONS have been made on the same liberal scale as applied to all our previous Sales, and though prices are at a higher standard than before the war, customers are assured of COMMENSURATE BARGAINS in all departments. Perishable Goods—those receding in Fashion, tossed, or in any way off colour,
